From Executive to Consultant: Shaping the Future of Inclusive, Profitable Leadership

Nicolle Sirisko is the Founder of Spire Strategy Group, a strategist, consultant, and former COO known for a human-centred, millennial approach to leadership. With over two decades of experience leading large, cross-functional teams and managing multi-million-dollar portfolios, she helps organizations grow profitably while keeping people at the centre.

As a woman in executive roles navigating her own mental health and identity journey, Nicolle brings both professional expertise and lived experience to every stage. She challenges outdated leadership norms and equips audiences with practical, people-first strategies that transform culture, performance, and profitability.

The Value Nicolle Brings

Executive credibility, lived experience: Brings the perspective of a former COO alongside the authenticity of her own leadership journey.

Relatable storytelling with real strategies: Blends personal experiences with practical frameworks that audiences can apply immediately.

Candour, empathy, results: Known for a style that is both human and outcome-driven, challenging outdated models while inspiring change.

Versatile presence: Equally impactful in keynotes, workshops, panels, and virtual settings, always tailoring content to the audience.
